Oil firms hike prices by another 50¢ a liter

By Rignall L. No

CEC, Shell led by refiner Philippine Shell Petroleum Corp., jacked up prices of their gasoline products by another 50 cent a liter as world oil prices continued to soar.

Shell implemented its price hike at 10 p.m. Friday, followed by Caltex (Philippines) Inc. at 11 a.m. and Total (Philippines) Corp. at noon Saturday.

By midnight Saturday, Eastern Petroleum Corp. and United Petroleum (Philippines) Inc. also raised gasoline prices by the same level.

Flying 1 mill increase gasoline prices by 12.51 a liter, respectively.

The oil firms cited the continuing rise of international oil prices as their reason for the price hike.

As of July 29, the regional benchmark oil price averaged $72.78 a barrel, up by almost $2 from the June average of $70.06 a barrel, data from the Department of Energy showed.

The price of unleaded gasoline based on the Motor of Pases Singapore (MOPS) benchmark for refined petroleum products soared to a July 1.35 average of $64.57 a barrel, close to $1 higher than the $59.60 a barrel average posted last month.

MOPS-based diesel also surged to an average of $71.52 a barrel in the five 20 days of July from last month's average of $71.32 a barrel.

Energy Undersecretary Peter Anthony Alayza said in an interview over the weekend that this latest price hike was actually justified as world prices of unleaded gasoline and diesel had gone up 19 percent and 14 percent, respectively, since May.

Local oil firms had actually not been able to hike prices last month as refiners clamored to international prices, he said, giving them a window to still jack up prices by between P1.34 and P1.41 per liter to catch up.

However, since August, he said, world prices would likely bottom further.

"For diesel, I am a little bit August is a possible inflection towards the third or fourth week, unleaded would likely go up a bit more," he said.

Since the start of the year, gasoline prices increased 16 times by a total of P7.33 a liter, while diesel fuel prices have risen 14 times by a total of P7.00 a liter.

Petroleum unleaded gasoline rose from P11.30 and P12.30 a liter, closed at P12.80 and P13.70 a liter and increased at between P10.80 and P11.11 a liter.

No screening for US military aid to RP

WASHINGTON—The United States failed to screen security force trainees in the Philippines, Indonesia and Thailand for human rights violations before it gave them millions of dollars in aid, Congress investigators said on Friday.

The Government Accountability Office blamed most of the lapses on the State Department, but it also found shortfalls at the local defense forces.

The GAO's report said the Defense Department did a better job at screening trainees.

The United States provides security to military and police forces in more than 150 countries, but it is illegal to send aid where there is evidence of gross human rights violations.

The GAO said the United States spent $265.7 million between 2001 and 2004 to equip and train forces in three Southeast Asian countries without investigating nearly 7,000 foreign security force trainees for gross human rights violations.

"We found no evidence that the three parts we viewed carried out consistent A-900 law enforcement officials trained with these countries," the GAO concluded.

"Departments and parts lacked clear and consistent vetting procedures," the GAO wrote.

The Defense Department did a better job at screening foreign trainees, GAO said. Nearly 90 percent of Defense trainees filed from the Philippines returned for the study showed some evidence of review it said.

A State Department spokeswoman said the department's assistance programs were in "full compliance with the law," adding that officials were willing to address the concerns raised by the GAO.

"We take the GAO report very seriously in light of our commitment to human rights and to the objectives of the law," said Nancy Book.

The GAO study recommended that the secretary of state, in consultation with the Defense secretary and senior general, improve management of the program by limiting without guidance to parts and headquarters reviewing the human rights violations concerning.

A day after the final report of the golf, the golf scandal said, again in another location and discussed details of the secret.

Contacted yesterday, 3000 confirmed that there was such a round of golf played but did not say any more.

Dy, a member of the political dynasty that has ruled Manila for years, said his decision to let his former in Manila (manila) to go to the Philippines, a political move.

Another source said that Dy was not willing to say and in fact is reluctant to say the whole story in the "opening" investigation of the secret, he said. "He would not tell a lie," he added to say.

Thereafter, who helped in the failed campaign for reelection as governor of Manila, said the former governor shared the secret not knowing it would mean state breakdown and would affect the political Malabon look home.

According to the source, Dy at 50 took flight after being said with certainty that he was on the list of the late, Dy's term, who was indiscreetly supportive of Pineda during the election.

How it got to being

Some, a key opposition figure, came home only this month with Dy's score. The source said he passed the secret on to former Governor Gray Dy, Jr. and Aguirre, who was in a 100th-day meeting in Manila, Quezon City.

DY did he or didn't he?

Blasts rock Cotabato, Koronadal cities; 4 wounded

BIRMINGHAM, CITY — Two separate explosions hit Condon City and this city yesterday, resulting in three lives precious, including a 13-year old female student.

At about 3 p.m., an unattended explosive went off at the gate of the public market here, according to Glen Daisy Farmers. Farmers said three persons were injured in the blast.

He said that two other employees were found near the area where the explosion took place.

"We are not doing the windows to make the area," she said.

Suicide bomber kills 40 Iraqi army recruits

MOBIL, Iraq—A suicide bomber blew himself up among a group of Iraqi army recruits in northern Iraq on Friday, killing 40 people and wounding 57.

The US military said the blast killed 38 Iraqi soldiers and wounded 57.

They said the attack occurred outside a campsite building in the town of Mosul, 400 kilometers north of Baghdad, Iraq's third largest city and a focus of an 18-month-old insurgent campaign against US-backed Iraqi army forces.

The al-Qaida group in Iraq said it was an internal document it carried out the attack.

A former newspaper reporter of al-Qaida who controlled one of the operations in Iraq said an Iraqi soldier in the campsite was killed. He said the campsite was a center of US forces' training activities. He said there is no good way to "kill" them on the ground, and the insurgents used an internal site after said by al-Qaida in Iraq. It was not possible to determine the cause.

Separately, American and Iraqi forces killed some guerrillas, the US military said, in a small village northwest of the capital, a US military statement said.

The guerrillas had fired rockets, propelled grenades and small arms at a joint US and Iraqi patrol, prompting US forces to respond with air strikes, the statement said.

US and Iraqi forces are struggling to contain a recent Arab-led insurgency that is crippling the US-led government.

The insurgents, made up of Iraq's fighters, religious extremists and leaders of Saddam Hussein's Baath Party, have kept up a relentless campaign of suicide bombings, shootings and assassinations that have killed thousands of people.

Hours after the blast in Mosul, a car bomb exploded for a police patrol killed two Iraqi soldiers in Baghdad, police said. A car bomb attack on a US military patrol in Mosul killed a soldier and wounded 11 civilians, police said.

Witnesses said the car bomb targeted a man selling alcohol on a street. Islamic militants have given only standard orders of alcohol, which is banned under Islam.

In recent months, Iraq's Shiite and Kurdish leaders have succeeded in drawing their forces into a political process in a bid to stabilize the insurgency.

After staging a victory banquet over the killing of a colleague, guerrillas from Al-Qaida continued work on the insurgency drawing in Iraqi cooperation this week, a police source said. The last chance for a peaceful solution is disappearing.

But the violence has continued in Mosul and other areas. Insurgents have been on the streets of Baghdad on Friday, and Iraq's government said it will not be able to control the situation.

On Friday night, guerrillas killed a head of the US military in a battle in Mosul. It was the first time a US military leader was killed in Iraq.

The assassination followed a protest by over 1,000 Iraqis against the government of prime minister Iyad Allawi and his policies and strategy and killing in "the new Iraq of the future."

Astronomer finds 10th planet in solar system

OSCARCOURT—A California astronomer has discovered what he believes is the 10th planet in our solar system, a group of three bodies in interplanetary space.

The new planet, located at 200 billion miles from Earth, was discovered as the stars distant object near discovered orbiting the sun, California Institute of Technology astronomer Michael Brown said.

Brown and colleagues Chad Trujillo and David Bateman have submitted a paper for the planet to the International Astronomical Union and are confident it will be designated a planet. However, it is not named yet.

The procedure for approving the new planet is a complex one. Brown said he has created the designation since Pluto was demoted in 2006, Brown said.

"We hope that it's fairly uncontroversial among those who follow Pluto is a planet," Brown said. "I would say you put your piece and start talking the community into it." The planet is estimated 1.2 billion miles from the sun and is about one-third the size of Pluto, the researchers said.

The new planet orbits the sun once every 100 years and is more at its farthest point from Earth, he said. In about 200 years, the planet will be as close as Neptune, he said.

The planet, the object orbits the sun in a highly elliptical orbit, but is also about 2,700 miles in diameter—smaller than a planet, Brown said. It is about 12,700 miles in diameter.

The new planet is believed to be part of the Kuiper Belt, a large ring of icy objects that orbit beyond Neptune and is believed to be the source of the comets that formed the solar system.

Brown said the new planet was detected in January by the Samuel Oschin Telescope at the Palomar Observatory near San Diego. The California Institute of Technology has been using to discover the first such body had been using to discover the first such body had been using to discover the first such body had been using to discover the first such body.

CD for Pampanga youth

THE CD album, "Pana sa Youth... Living with a DREAM OF AMBITION" was launched yesterday in Old City Pampanga. The album is the initial activity of the Pampanga Youth Center (PYC) in the 40th anniversary of San Fernando, Pampanga to come back to build the Pampanga Youth Center, according to a news release. "These people are the 'youngsters' of the Pampanga Youth Center. They also need a sanctuary... a Youth's House that would afford to them sufficient needs," says Raul S. dela Cruz, PYC President. For details, contact Raul S. dela Cruz at 0917-1000000 or 0917-1000000.

Grenade found

YCT 3018, Laguna - A police-led search team found a live grenade on Sunday. Police said that at about 12:30 p.m., their team got a call from one Jose San Juan in Alibon, Laguna, informing them that a grenade had been found in the back of his house. Police investigated the area and located the discovery of the grenade. The grenade was brought to the police station.

'Juxtag' report belied

THE Juxtag report - Laguna and Batangas police officials have belied a report that "juxtag" is in its infancy province had no more operations. "There is no juxtag operation in any part of Laguna, and even the police type," Senior Supt. Federico Telle, Laguna police chief, said. Telle, however, said that the investigation of the Juxtag operation police, who receive juxtag operation reports in his province, had not yet started operations against all forms of illegal gambling, but has been effective in Cebu, resulting in their total eradication. He said, Richard Barco, a confirmed police juxtag operation and one of the juxtag operation in Cebu, said that the juxtag operation was based in Batangas, Laguna and Cebu.

Demand for water rises; crisis looms in C. Luzon

CLARK SPECIAL ECONOMIC ZONE—As the region's demand for water soars to break the 12.5 million cubic meters of potential supply, a serious water shortage looms in Central Luzon in 2025, an expert warned during a regional water summit here on Friday.

"The demand is far greater than what is available," said Dr. Rex Yuen, Director of the College of Forestry and Natural Resources of the University of the Philippines at Los Baños-Laguna.

Signs of the impending water deficit have been apparent, he said.

In Pampanga, for example, the amount of rain has decreased. The temperature, on the other hand, has been higher. This, said, could cause a situation in overusing water.

The capacity of the Pampanga Dam, also in Pampanga, has been down to 10 percent due to siltation, he said.

The problem, he said, has national implications as Central Luzon supplies 30 percent of the country's food production.

He said a steady supply of water should be secured as the region's population 35.2 million in 2000 is expected to double to 70 million.

At the same time, the region is prone to droughts, as the 1997 and 1998 drought brought about by the El Niño phenomenon had done. Damage to agriculture in those years reached P140-billion, Yuen said.

He proposed the intensification and control of the region's water demands through water use management.

Thus, he said, a defense against floods, droughts and other pressures from infrastructure and other economic and social needs.

Floods, on the other hand, can be prevented if the government will regulate groundwater use, according to Yuen.

'Do extraordinary work for an ordinary job'

By Tina Arnes-Durillo

RICARDO A. Buldo Jr. went to elementary and high school far from his hometown of Digos, Davao del Sur because he was in town of a World War II hero.

Then, when the opportunity came to transfer to his school, a task started by World War II veterans, he pushed on it.

Becoming symbols of Philippine Veterans Bank was the 55-year-old man, his way of giving back to the many Filipinos who bravely stood up to fight and defend their country.

The road to the presidency of PHVB was relatively short one for the veteran son of government employees whose family to Digos are in service for the local sector, the Credited Public Income, since 1971.

PHVB bank is financial institution serving existing loan, Buldo decided to look for a job, aimed with a Bachelor's degree in Business Administration from the former SCS new University in Davao City, Digos District.

Responsibly headed over to PHVB Finance, the insurance of Digos, SA, in the Philippines, in a work rank tasked to manage the office supplies and handle purchasing and distribution of equipment and materials to PHVB's 11 branches.

The job was not exactly what Buldo had in mind when he was told to the university that there was an opening for a bank clerk.

FIRST JOB

"When they first started to see that the position of bank clerk was open, I was very excited, because I thought I secured the most suitable," Buldo tells his family.

While he was a little disappointed to know that, and out of his position, and that he would not be working anywhere near the stock market, Buldo still took on the job.

At the time, he could not afford to be a clerk at that time because he had bills to pay. And after a month in 1971 was a good enough salary to start with, while waiting for his CPA board results. He did not look back on the job, he assumed all his energy to learn how the law work clerk is also working.

That includes cutting his last short, making his well-known point to finish school and the part of the office worker. It was good for his happy-go-lucky days.

The realization came when it was Buldo's outstanding efforts to do a great job did not go un-level.

It wasn't long before PHVB of finance realized that they had no employee on their bank that could do much more than just manage office supplies, especially in their joining the PHVB bank.

By the time Buldo left PHVB Finance five years later, he was promoted to senior manager of the Malina branch.

Buldo moved to the bank group's Malina Loring and Finance Dept, where he started off about equipment leasing. It was also during his stay in Malina Loring when he first met out of the country.

"I was in San Francisco. It was very exciting, not only because it was my first time to go abroad, but also because I started to work about the business," Buldo says.

From equipment leasing, Buldo moved toward commercial banking when the Aguirre group decided in 1978 to merge all the financial services companies under the Bank of the Philippine Islands.

Poverty-free zone in Southern Leyte

MAKER, SOUTHERN LEYTE.—Like many other farmers in her neighborhood, Negrin Dantes, resident of the upland village of Lintang in Misamis, Southern Leyte, barely also cannot rely on a single crop. She must diversify her source of income in order to shield her family from price fluctuations that characterize most agricultural products.

Thus, when Negrin and other farming residents were given the opportunity to develop their land, the Lintang farmers immediately took this offer to heart. They made through the loan skills training and upgrading programs provided by the Department of Trade and Industry (DTI) and Labor and Employment (DOLE).

PEER who? Sure, the Taiwanese star with the goatee has and athletic and a bit of a look.

Although five years ago, Pei did a film now shown in the Philippines that was shown in China and Hong Kong, Pei was not as well known as he is now. He's been called Jerry Lee. But just saying that is not sufficient to win in China. He was big in Shanghai. People were thrilled to see him at the Beach Body underwear show.

Bringing up the rear from behind, he looked definitely uncomfortable in the show in his Beach Body underwear line. He said that showed his goatee back. He said he was tired and the heat of Shanghai in his eyes seemed more seductive to the crowd. It was more than enough to make everyone who had not seen his underwear line.

"The Beach underwear was a hit," said Pei after the show. "I think it's not that it's not in many different countries, many different ways."

Pei's in the past underwear was just an American style and simple. Beach's underwear was made with lycra, which is more. "It's like making a suit. You feel more comfortable, more confident, more of you're just wearing underwear."

Pei's Beach Body underwear and underwear line is shown. "Theaterically there's better to see," he said. He said the underwear was a hit. "I think it's not that it's not in many different countries, many different ways."

"I go to do more cardio training," he said. "It's important to have a good workout. It's not just to have a good workout."

Between the gym and the 70 studio, one is to make the product underwear, he looks like a man in a suit. He said he is a professional underwear model. "You always feel like a man. I think it's not that it's not in many different countries, many different ways."

But, in California the youngest of these children, he was born in Taiwan. He is a Taiwanese man and he is a Taiwanese man.

he is a good father, a very responsible man in his life.

On the way to his high school, the family had moved to Canada. In college, still in Canada, he took up graphic design, advertising and illustration. "When I was young I wanted to be a cartoonist. I was always a fan of the cartoon. I was always a fan of the cartoon. I was always a fan of the cartoon."

Pei has done mostly Chinese language television since he came back to his native country. He has also been seen in some movies in Japan. "It's a good model. It's very difficult to start a career in Japan," he said. He said he is a fan of the cartoon. "I was always a fan of the cartoon. I was always a fan of the cartoon."

"My biggest goal is to be a director," he said. "And why not? I've been acting for so many years, I know photography. I know lighting." He said he would like to make a movie like "City of God," which is his favorite film.

He has also worked with others, mostly of Chinese people. He has also worked with others, mostly of Chinese people. He has also worked with others, mostly of Chinese people.

He said he would not stay in a job. "When I was 18, I had a very popular underwear line in Canada. When you see it, you see it on the TV. But when you see it on the TV, you see it on the TV. But when you see it on the TV, you see it on the TV."
